Job advertisement: Webintegrator

The General Committee (AStA) of the constituted student body of the KIT represents the approximately 22,000 students enrolled at the Karlsruhe Institute of Technology (KIT) vis-à-vis the university, politics and society and offers them support and counselling.

The AStA runs its own website, which provides students with information about the AStA. This includes, for example, the services offered (vehicle rental, print shop) and the individual departments. The website is irreplaceable for many processes and urgently needs an overhaul.

For the rebuilding of our website we need a student as a webintegrator

with an employment contract limited to a period of 8 months.

Responsibilities

- Technical realisation of web designs
 - Support of a Drupal installation
 - Resolving any technical problems that arise
- Communication and constant exchange with the person employed for the design
- Documentation of the necessary work processes for end users
- Possible administrative activities during preliminary launch

The website is being rebuilt from scratch in collaboration with the website designer with the aim of making it more intuitive and efficient and getting rid of legacy issues as far as possible.

Requirements

- Experience with content management systems (preferably Drupal)
- Experience with common web technologies (HTML, CSS, PHP)
- Ability to work in a team
- Independent, structured and reliable way of working
- Knowledge of Linux is an advantage
- Basic knowledge of the structure of the AStA, its working methods and areas of work is an advantage

We offer you a flexible job in a student team. You will have your own design options within the framework of the website requirements and are welcome to contribute your ideas.

The work can be done flexibly in the office or at home. Attendance at the office at the KIT South Campus can be required.

The regular average working time is 20 hours per month. The salary is based on pay group E3 of the TV-L (from April 2025 € 16.82, without previous experience).

Please send your application in text form by e-mail to vorsitz@asta-kit.de. The application must include at least a CV. Certificates are not required.

Applications will be accepted immediately.

The application period ends on 22 April 2025.

If you have any questions, please contact vorsitz@asta-kit.de.

Kind regards,
Tobias Deeg
